Naturalist Intelligence

Are you considered an environmentalist amongst your peers?

If so, you may have naturalistic intelligence and are "nature smart". You nurture and protect the environment, you honor the beauty all about you, and desire to live in harmony with it.

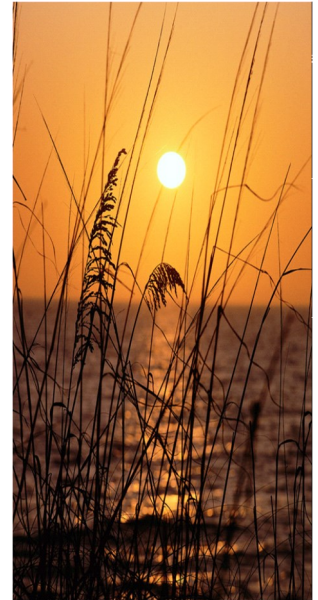

Careers suited for this intelligence include naturalists, ranchers, farmers, horticulturalists, environmentalists, keepers of zoos and animal habitats, to name a few. You might also have gardening as an avocation.

Every society needs individuals who aspire to beautify and preserve the gift of the earth entrusted to us so that following generations may also take advantage of the calm and ease that it affords.

So if you have naturalistic intelligence, we welcome you to keep an eye out for animal life, waterways, beaches, forests, and other green spaces.

After all, who isn't wowed by majestic creation and landscapes?
