Practical Intelligence

Do you learn most of your expert knowledge on your own?

Well, maybe you have practical intelligence or you are “street smart”.

With this intelligence, you just seem to know how to do things without being “taught” or having the benefit of an instructor.

You have a keen ability to adapt to the demands of your environment and to apply knowledge in practical situations. You are great at “thinking on your feet”. You have a unique ability to acquire important information just through experiencing everyday activities.

Careers that highlight this talent are sales, marketing, public relations, business, entrepreneurship, and even military leadership.

This is no small gift. As we move through the highs and lows of each day, we need you to ground us and to lift us.

So if you have practical intelligence, don’t make yourself scarce, for you give us roots and wings.
