Spatial Intelligence

Do you have a keen aptitude for making sense of the space around you?

Perhaps your primary intelligence is spatial intelligence or you are "picture smart". That involves a penchant for recognizing and using the patterns of space. It is the ability to grasp images and visual representations.

It could include molding ceramics, painting, printmaking, and sculpting. It could also consist of graphic arts, architecture, and interior design. This intelligence also embraces the performing arts, stage and film productions.

Individuals with spatial intelligence have extraordinary hand/eye coordination; therefore, they may demonstrate an aptitude in fashion and photography, as well as hair and nail styling.

Such individuals are very aware of their environments and can be found drawing, doing jigsaw puzzles, reading maps, and daydreaming.

If you are gifted to make space more beautiful, the world eagerly awaits your personal touch on each room of our lives.
