

Reflective Living with Dr. Angela

Leadership and People

Do you know the most important feature of leadership?

The most important feature of leadership is people.

Talent alone is not sufficient for great leadership.

Besides, procedural knowledge and technical prowess become less important as you ascend the ladder of success.

Successful leadership calls for a bird's-eye view and forward-thinking about the good of people. In the process, successful leaders develop collaborative relationships with people.

While it is important for leaders to be knowledgeable and competent, great leaders inspire others to do what they thought they could not do themselves.

Certainly leaders help teams to win. But more importantly, leaders help all the people on the team to become winners. People skills rule!

Similar topics are available electronically:

- Born to Lead
- Leadership Influence
- Your Leadership Styles
- Servant Leadership

So remember to give yourself the gift of reflection.