

Reflective Living with Dr. Angela

Your Leadership Philosophy

Do you know your leadership philosophy?

In order to demonstrate consistent and principled leadership action, you must develop a leadership philosophy. Your leadership philosophy is the culmination of your personal investigation of the truth. It includes your core beliefs, your core values, your guiding principles, your vision, and your purpose. Your comprehensive view of life provides a foundation for your leadership platform. These ideals frame how you see yourself as a leader as well as how you function as a leader.

Without a leadership philosophy, you are sure to be blown by every wind of opposition. But if you want to routinely practice leadership excellence, then cultivate an untainted leadership philosophy as your leadership outlook is an expression of who you are.

Similar topics are available electronically:

- Leadership Values
- Transformational Leadership
- Situational Leadership

So remember to give yourself the gift of reflection.