Agape Love

Are you familiar with agape love?

Agape love rises above all other types of love. It is a function of the will and it is not based on emotions. Agape love is a decision and because it is not driven by emotions, it is consistent, stable, and trustworthy. It entails honesty, integrity, and selflessness.

Agape love calls for the full package of being delightful, peaceful, patient, gentle, good, faithful, meek; and it calls for having self control.

Agape love wields such a high yardstick that it cannot be imitated, fabricated, copied or simulated. It is the real deal. So let agape love become your standard for giving love as well as your gauge for knowing whether true love is being given to you.

And remember to give yourself
the gift of reflection.
